

Fabricated Copper Product

Copper busbar provides a economical solution for switchboard and switchgear makers.

Vipul Copper brings a wide range of Fabricated Copper product for its customer. This helps customer save time on redesigning their copper product to meet their requirement.

Our fabrication process uses high quality “OC-ETP” high conductivity electrolytic pitch Busbars to ensure quality product, which goes through a strenuous processing of bending, punching, cutting, tapping, twisting, and more before delivering the final quality product to our customers.

Our fabricated products have been resolution and aid to many customers providing them with a numerous benefits.

The flexible advantage of our Fabricated Copper products

- Scrap reduction
- Time saving
- Installation at ease
- Save money
- Low cost of maintenance
- Express delivery

Some of our Fabricated copper product requirements which are on huge demand are switch board, switch gears, locks, CCTV camera hooks and more.